

I have a passion for real estate and people, I embarked on my journey as a Realtor in 1987. I earned my Nevada license in 2008 and delved into property management in 2010. Taking my passion a step further, I took the bold step of opening my own brokerage in 2021. Though it might seem late in my career, I firmly believe in chasing dreams to live without regrets.

My roots trace back to the scenic state of Vermont, but life's journey took me across various states including Michigan, Alaska, and California. Much of this mobility was shaped by my husband's dedicated service in the US Coast Guard. Our legacy of service continues with our son, who is proudly serving in the US Air Force, and my brief tenure as a Coast Guard Reservist.

I cherish my life in Fernley, where I engage actively with the community by attending City Council meetings, ensuring I'm abreast of local governance developments.

Throughout my career, I've sought to give back to the Realtor community. I've served as a director for the Kodiak Board of Realtors and was a member of the Grievance Committee for the Alaska Association of Realtors. Today, I contribute as a member of the NNRMLS Technology Advisory Group, leveraging my years of experience to shape the future of our industry.
