

I'm Alisa Andrews, a Realtor and property manager that values community, commitment, and appreciation. Outside of the office I enjoy kayaking, the fine arts, cultivating plants and flowers, volunteering and fundraising, and creating a home for my family. My clients have been recipients of integrity, respect, and dependability. The traits I bring to the table are patience, compassion, and honesty. Most of my achievements come from local engagement. I've collected backpacks, mittens, pajamas, and a host of other things. I'd like to offer communication, active listening, and attention to detail as we move forward in our industry. I believe in equipping people with knowledge and certainty so that together we can protect property rights. I choose to lean into teachable moments to expand my skills and I would love your vote! I'm on board! Let's go places and make a difference along the way.
